

CASE STUDY

ANDREA SPROSEN
National Environmental Coordinator,
Winstone Aggregates

Andrea Sprosen joined Winstone Aggregates in 2007 to undertake a role designed specifically to narrow the gap between Operational and Environmental teams.

With a Masters in Geography (majoring in Resource Management), Andrea's background includes roles at various Auckland Councils as well as international experience – in particular the United Kingdom where she has held a number of Environmental Management positions.

Andrea's role is broad: Officially, her task is to ensure that Winstone Aggregates maintains sustainable environmental compliance and improves environmental performance. But additionally, she also manages projects such as community open days and liaison meetings. With her time split between the office and the Company's twenty-six sites, when she's not at her desk she's found anywhere between Whangarei to Christchurch.

What does Andrea most like about the Quarrying industry? "I love being able to make a real contribution to environment while at the same time working with a group of professional, decent and down-to-earth people."
